MONTPELIER – To reach optimum performance, you must understand how you operate at the subconscious level, including how you think and make decisions in the best and worst of situations. That’s just a piece of the understanding you will realize through Ancelary Group’s new Advanced Insights profile.

A three-part, online assessment, Advanced Insights peeks below the surface of an individual, identifying natural strengths, what motivates and bores them, and what behavioral styles are comfortable, and which ones cause stress.

In a study of several hundred thousand successful people around the globe, it was learned that there are no common talents related to success. However, there are five common traits pertaining to:

- ▶ Self-concept.
- ▶ Role Awareness.
- ▶ Self-belief.
- ▶ Authenticity.
- ▶ Unique definition of success.

Ancelary Group’s Advanced Insights profiles the first four, providing details on how to maximize strengths and what minimizes your success. To learn more, stop by Booth 118 A at the Vermont Business and Industry EXPO May 26 and 27 at the Sheraton Hotel and Conference Center in Burlington.
